Tennille,

In response to your question.

EPA's goal was to provide the Dimock community with reliable information about the presence of contaminants in their drinking water and determine whether further action by EPA was warranted to protect public health. At this time, EPA is not looking to identify potential trends regarding drinking water quality in Dimock.

Terri - We're running a story in tomorrow's WSJ about the Dimock release. Can you tell me whether EPA examined whether Cabot's activities ever contaminated that water - say, two or three years ago - or whether the company violated any rules?

Thanks,

Tennille Tracy
